

Sara DeLong

Principal

Ragone DeLong Communications

sara@rd-communications.com

www.rd-communications.com

Sara DeLong

Ragone DeLong Communications

Sara is Founder and Principal of Ragone DeLong Communications, a full-service public relations and marketing firm, specializing in relationship building, communications and business development.

Sara combines her love of writing and her detailed-oriented approach to help clients build brand awareness and create communications successes.

With experience in media relations, content creation, social media management, strategic planning, crisis communication, rebranding and advertising, Sara works with clients to meet their marketing and communications needs in a personalized manner.

Sara has worked in marketing, public relations, and business development positions for both regional and national law firms. She also worked for communications departments in the non-profit and healthcare industries.