Susan Nolan, MSN, RN is the founder of Discover Health and a registered nurse with over 20 years of experience in the nursing field. She decided to start Discover Health when she realized the need for personalized, patient-first care that also addresses the needs of family members. As a registered nurse, she skillfully manages the coordination and transitioning of patients from hospital to home or higher levels of care. Her experience working with patients, doctors, interdisciplinary teams, and hospitals prepared her for this opportunity.

Susan's business is focused on guiding clients on their healthcare journey, acting as your personal advocate and liaison to help you navigate insurance, doctors, care facilities, pharmacies, and more. She helps individuals manage the challenges of the healthcare industry so they can focus on healing. Susan also guides small businesses in providing cost-saving preventative health programs for employees.

Susan earned her Master's in Healthcare Administration from Villanova University. She has held positions in major healthcare systems as staff nurse, nurse manager, director of clinical operations, director of nursing. In addition to being a member of South Jersey Women In Business, Susan is also a member of the Alliance of Patient Health Advocates.
